

UNDERGRADUATES

The University Undergraduate Grading System per:

<https://policies.catholic.edu/students/academicundergrad/gradesfull.html>

A	Excellent, Exceeds Learning Objectives
A-
B+
B	Good, Meets Learning Objectives
B-
C+
C	Satisfactory, Partially Meets Learning Objectives
C-	(Minimum Required) – See note 1
D	Lowest Passing – See notes 2 and 3
F	Failing, Fails to Meet Learning Objectives by a Significant Margin – See note 3
F*	Administrative Failure – See note 3
I	Incomplete – See note 3
W	Withdrawal – See note 4

Notes:

1. This language (Minimum Required) is per the School of Architecture and Planning Undergraduate Announcements which can be found here: <https://enrollment-services.catholic.edu/announcements/index.html>; a grade of a C- or higher in a studio or non-studio course counts toward the required courses for graduation and to proceed to the next course in sequence, if that course is a pre-req
2. A grade of a D or higher earned in a studio or non-studio course earns University credit but does not count toward the required courses for graduation nor to proceed to the next course in sequence, if that course is a pre-req
3. See the University Undergraduate Grading System (link above) for more information related to D, F, F* and I grades.
4. See the University Undergraduate Policy related to a W grade here: <https://policies.catholic.edu/students/academicundergrad/changeundergrad.html>

GRADUATES

The University Graduate Grading System per:

<https://policies.catholic.edu/students/academicgrad/gradesfull.html>

A	Excellent, Exceeds Learning Objectives
A-
B+
B	Satisfactory, Meets Learning Objectives
B-	(Minimum Required for a Studio Course) – See note 1
C	Passing but Marginal, Partially Meets Learning Objectives – See notes 2, 3 and 6
F	Failing, Fails to Meet Learning Objectives by a Significant Margin – See note 4
F*	Administrative Failure – See note 4
I	Incomplete – See note 4
W	Withdrawal – See note 5

Notes:

1. This language (Minimum Required for a Studio Course) is per the School of Architecture and Planning Graduate Announcements which can be found here: <https://enrollment-services.catholic.edu/announcements/index.html>; a grade of a B- or higher in a studio course counts toward the required courses for graduation and to proceed to the next course in sequence, if that course is a pre-req

2. A grade of a C or higher in a non-studio course counts toward the required courses for graduation and to proceed to the next course in sequence, if that course is a pre-req
3. A grade of a C or higher earned in a studio or non-studio course earns University credit
4. See the University Graduate Grading System <https://policies.catholic.edu/students/academicgrad/gradesfull.html> for more information related to D, F, F* and I grades.
5. See the University Graduate Policy related to a W grade here: <https://policies.catholic.edu/students/academicundergrad/changeundergrad.html>
6. Additional School of Architecture and Planning requirements listed in the Graduate Announcements:
 - a. “Since a C grade is passing but marginal at the graduate level, C grades are permitted in a maximum of one-third of the courses required for the degree.”
 - b. “A grade of C in studio courses is not acceptable; students who earn C grades may repeat only one studio course.”